

Statement by the ETC Chief Executive Officer, Philip Rizzo

Friday, 14th August, 2015

Allow me to publicly offer my full and unreserved apologies for my failure to foresee that the remark I made on a senior Colleague's private Facebook page risked causing upset not only to the official herself but also to the Corporation in which I am striving to serve.

It is not without much embarrassment that I find myself also having to express my regrets to the National Commission for Promotion of Equality (NCPE) and the general public for the bad example I have unwittingly given by the facetious remark I made.

Finally, I wish to clarify that my remarks were not the result of or intended to show any favouritism and I recognise that the professional achievements of the individual concerned were achieved purely on her own merits.

Philip Rizzo
